Undergrad Fall newsletter

Catch up on the latest activities at 707. They have figured out how to have fun, even though the parties are alcohol free. You local hockey fans might want to watch their Freeze the Puck playoff, as they seek to win their 5th straight title for this fundraiser on Saturday, April 6th. Meet the 25 new pledges, See how they are planning to deal with the new Fall Deferred Rush.. <http://www.phigams.org/articles/ugradnews18>

Pig Dinner plans

It's time to gather up your classmates and do a little partying on March 23rd. We're holding rooms at Webers until mid Feb. if you need accommodations, so don't wait. Full information is on the Invitation. <http://www.phigams.org/articles/piginvite19.pdf>

Brian Griese helps grieving children and their families

Football superstar, and Michigan Fiji, Brian Griese '97, knows more than football. When the former NFL quarterback was seven years old, his mother, Judi, was diagnosed with breast cancer. She died five years later. Brian let his grief motivate him to start a unique support organization for other children who grieve their loss of a loved one. He and his wife, Dr. Brook Griese, a clinical psychologist specializing in childhood trauma and loss, founded Judi's House., Judi's House is the only free-standing organization in the Metro Denver area devoted solely to providing research-based care to grieving children and their families. There is more to an education than playing a sport. Thank you, Brian. Learn more about this commitment at the website. <https://www.judishouse.org/>

Class News

Here is a new section for the Ephlier. Members can share recollections, stories, information and updates about activities with their classmates that will be posted by class year. Anyone is welcome to submit their story to Tom Eames, fijiman@metalmasters.com
This is your bulletin. Help me make it interesting.
